History and Description:

A small, shed-roofed wood frame chicken coop (Feature K, see Photos WY-112-K-1 to WY-112-K-2) is located at the extreme northeast corner of the ranch complex and measures 10' E-W x 7'5" N-S. The roof is covered with wood shingles, and the exterior walls are covered with horizontal boards with some narrow vertical siding on the south elevation. The south elevation also has a hinged wood door and a small window without glass. The interior of the coop has a dirt floor and some brood boxes. This building was used for raising baby chickens but was abandoned due to badger predations. It probably dates from the 1920s or early 1930s.
